The institution assesses the students' cognitive level and organizes special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners.

1. Introduction:

University assesses the learning levels of the students and organizes special programmes for advanced and slow learners. At the commencement of every academic year, the University conducts the following programmes and assesses the newly joined students' learning levels through psychometric examination. Based on the psychometric examination, students are classified as slow learners and advanced learners. Besides for students programme such as orientation and bridge course were conducted

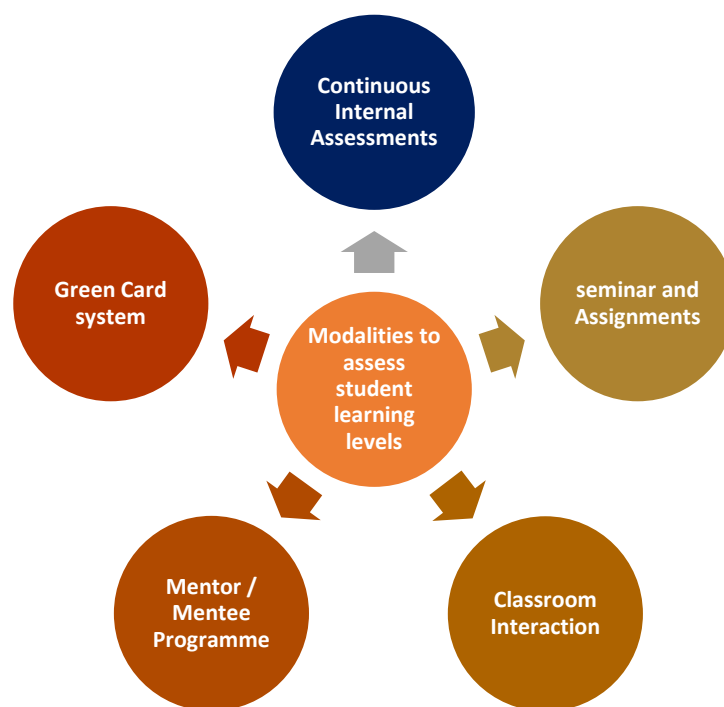

During the Induction Programme and Bridge courses, the students' differential requirements and learning capacities are assessed. Slow and Advanced Learners are grouped to avoid discrimination among the students. However, University organizes special programmes to meet the differential needs of the slow and advanced learners.

Also, along with these programmes, University Departments have their modalities to assess student learning levels through formal mechanisms.

2. Assessment of Slow learners and Advanced Learners
